

Anne Marshall

PUBLISHER, RIPLEY PUBLISHING LIMITED

Anne Marshall has managed all the Ripley's annuals, including Ripley's Believe It or Not! Strikingly True, the company's eighth title in the series. She has also produced Ripley's Search for the Shrunken Heads in 2007, and many other titles in the Ripley's publishing program. Recently, she has worked on a new digital initiative that includes apps and ebooks.

Before joining Ripley Publishing, Marshall was Publishing Director at Miles Kelly handling the company's mainlist and packaging projects for Scholastic, Marks & Spencer, and other leading companies.

Marshall formerly worked with Guinness World Records, commissioning and managing projects, before creating her own company to package books, and manage exhibition print.

Marshall has lectured and tutored students at several universities, including Central Saint Martins College of Art and Design in London, England—one of the top art schools in the United Kingdom.
